VARSITY WINS FROM KEEWATIN

GAMES PLAYED ON COLD, WINDY DAYS.—LOOSELY
CONTESTED.

Keewatin Team Off Color.—Their Pitcher Given No Encouragement By His Teammates.

The games played in St. Augustine against our old rival Keewatin were comedies of errors. Neither side was free from fault in this respect, although in truth it must be said that Keewatin was the greater offender.

Friday's game was played in very unfavorable circumstances, and it would have been impossible for either team to have appeared to advantage. It was the most peculiar game Stetson has engaged in for several years. The final score was 27 to 7 in favor of Stetson.
The Keewatin twirler pitched excellent ball but his team mates booted them at every chance until it seemed as tho they were even going out of their way to error.

This was the opening game of the season for the Keewatin squad and they were very far from being in the best of form.

Palmer pitched for Stetson and performed in his usual creditable manner. He kept the Keewatin hits well scattered and at the same time never exerted himself at any stage of the game.

The second game likewise resulted in a Stetson victory by a large, but not quite, so one-sided score. Saturday's score was 16 to 12. Every one was stinging the pill at a lively clip, nor was the game entirely free from errors, coupled with a boner or two by both sides.

The Keewatin boys play here
next week and the Stetson squad is expecting to meet a much strengthened club. Boutwell, Steele McCauley and Guyon are about as fast as the average "busher"
and the others of the squad are not lacking in ability. There is no use of our deluding ourselves into thinking Keewatin has no creditible ball club—for they have.
In these games they were away off color and we may rest assured
they will do their best to stage a
"come-back" stunt on our diamond.

Score by innings:

First Game.

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Stetson	2	1	0	2	0	0	0	6	3
Keewatin	1	0	0	1	0	0	3	0	2

Second Game.

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Stetson	3	0	4	3	4	0	2	0	0
Keewatin	3	0	0	0	4	0	4	1

SIGMA NU DANCE.

A pleasant time was had at the Sigma Nu House Saturday evening

present.

Gardiner Sherman spent the week end with his parents at Orlando.

Dr. Rosco Glass, '09', visited the University during the week. Dr.
Glass is now located in Richmond, Va.

tive practice in Jacksonville.

David Sholtz, Law '15, is running for the State Legislature.

ROLLINS DEFEATED IN BOTH GAMES

FIRST GAME A BATTLE
ROYAL.—EACH SIDE
EARNED BUT ONE
RUN.

Second Game A More Easy Victory
Varsity Piled Up Eight While Rollins Was Unable To Tally.

Every cog in the Varsity machine was working fine Monday and Tuesday and consequentially Rollins suffered defeat on both days.

The first game was really a pitchers duel between Palmer and Barze. Each team earned but one talley, but Barze failed to receive the support extended to Palmer by the locals. Both pitchers worked brilliantly but Barze, if there was any choice, would probably deserve honors.

The second game was not so interesting. Barstow pitched excellent ball and succeeded in blank-eting the visitors, while his team mates were piling up eight runs.
Stubbs did not seem to have anything on the ball but our fellows were a long time solving his delivery at that. He was hit by a pitched ball and weakened visibly in the latter portion of the game.
Rodenbaugh pitched the last inning for the visitors and retired the Varsity without a tally.

STETSON ACADEMY WINS DEBATE

FOR SECOND CONSECUTIVE
TIME FROM SANFORD
HIGH.

Debaters All Did Well and Showed Careful Preparation.—Hotly Contested At All Stages.

Friday, March 3rd, at 8:00 P.
M., the annual interscholastic debate took place in the University Auditorium between the Sanford
High School and the Stetson Literary Society. In many ways our academy literary society deserves a great deal of praise. They are really an example to the older societies because of their energy and enthusiasm.

Promptly at 8:00 o'clock, following the stir and buzz of the audience,
the evening's entertainment began with an organ solo played by Miss Hattie Miller. The debaters filed in accompanied by Profs. Baldwin and Prof. Ezell of the Sanford High School. Prof. Baldwin announced as judges Mr. Sheppard, Supt. Public Instruction Volusia County; Judge Herring of Sanford, and Prof. Wheatley of Cressent City High School, and referred us to the program for the subject for debate which was "Resolved, That it is Unnecessary for the Present Congress to Increase the Facilities for National Preparedness."

For Sanford Mr. Hume Rumph,
Miss Lucile Rines, and Miss Marian
Gove spoke in the affirmative.
For Stetson Literary Society, Mr.
Earl Shufin, Miss Francis Field and Mr. Clyatt Lewis replied in the negative. Following the fifteen minute speeches, Mr. Rumph of Sanford had an eight minute rebuttal and a similar opportunity was accorded Mr. Shufin of Stetson. Mr. Rumph in his first speech gave us an outline of our nation's resources, principally our navy as compared to that of other nations, and by this comparison sought to show no need for further preparedness. Mr. Shufin in his reply gave one of his best points in a comparison of the respective ranges of navy guns of our nation and those of the English and German navies; their guns practically doubling ours in range. Miss Rines attacked the false philosophy of the warring nations namely that might makes right and further said that this policy was the policy of the judges and the preparedness advocates. Miss Field for the negative ably defended the policies of President Wilson as contrasted with Mr. Bryan. Miss Gove in an earnest speech brought to our attention the horrors of war, and beautifully spoke on the teachings of the lowly Nazarine. Mr. Lewis discussed the responsibility of our nation to its citizens and to our neighboring nations of this hemisphere as set forth by the Monroe Doctrine. Mr. Rumph gave a very good rebuttal, followed by our speaker Mr. Earl Shufin, who had the question well in hand and delivered a number of telling blows against the affirmative's arguments.

While the judges were preparing their discussion Miss Ford rendered an artistic selection on the piano.
Prof. Baldwin announced the decision of the judges in favor of

EDITORIAL.

To the Alumni:—

No one can compute the value of a strong alumni to an educational institution. This is especially true where the alumni are awake and active in working for their alma mater. The value of such a force behind an institution is too self evident to need any proof. In this day of advertisement the alumni occupy a niche in the scheme of placing the school before the public eye that is of greater importance than any other force or method. When the alumni are for a school nothing can be against it. This is true in every sense. Every school activity is doomed to at least a mediocre success without their assistance and co-operation. It necessarily results that the school that lacks their support is doomed to inevitable failure for does not, in the last analysis, every school depend upon the success of its activities? This is true of each and all of the phases of its activities and ambitions.

The school that is successful in athletics invariably has a strong athletically interested constituency in its alumni. The best proof of a school's scholastic standing and its usefulness as an educational factor is the standing of its alumni and their every day work in life.

Stetson has a strong alumni in Florida and many strong men in other states point with pride to John B. Stetson University as their alma mater. Most of them are ardent supporters of everything that stands for the advancement of Stetson. The very fact that some of them find fault in a friendly way, with the Collegiate is a proof of their interest in us. The fault pointed out by Mr. Sellers, as given in the preceding issue is the most commonly criticised one. To do ourself justice we must state that this one fault at least was early perceived by the staff and immediate steps were taken to remedy it. We perforce, admit with some little chagrin that the fault still remains, nor have we, so far, mitigated it in the slightest. All efforts to systematize our efforts in keeping up with our alumni have been complete failures. Are we alone to blame? Perhaps. Still you should at least give us credit for honestly striving to build up this department of our college paper. The management has spent no mean sum in an effort to impress the alumni with the fact that it is their duty and privilege to send in news of themselves and of others. That is the only way that a school paper can possibly keep up with the alumni and their different successes.

We are just as anxious to tabulate in our student record the accomplishments of the "heroes who have gone before us" as are you to read of such successes of your former friends and classmates. Every man in school who is loyal is always glad to hear of such triumphs of former Stetson students, just as you as a former student are interested in reading of our present activities.

So let us get together on this proposition. Send in every bit of news you possess. You must certainly see that if every alumni will do likewise the alumni column in the Collegiate would more than repay you for your troubles.

It is impossible for us to obtain this news without your assistance. A little co-operation and we all gain.

BASEBALL NOTICES.

Next Wednesday and Thursday, the 15th and 16th, the Varsity will play Keewatin on the local diamond. From St. Augustine come rumors of hard practices for these games. The Keewatin squad is determined to reverse the standing of the teams and this is by no means impossible. A couple of seasons ago after being soundly trounced in DeLand, they came back strongly and defeated the Varsity 1 to 0 in St. Augustine. The visitors have several men of national fame in athletics and the games will no doubt be the most interesting of the season.

On Friday and Saturday, the 17th and 18th, the Varsity will meet Rollins on their grounds in Winter Park. For the last four of five years these have been the most hotly contested games of the season. To keep up precedent the collegians will have to take both of these games. Can they do it?

THOSE DIPLOMA HOLDERS.

All holders of diplomas may be divided into two classes: those who are educated and those who are merely college graduates. If a man takes his diploma home, stores it away in his private archives without even attempting to decipher its Latin, assumes that he is thoroughly educated and therefore avoids all further acquisition of knowledge, then he is merely a college graduate, and by the time he is fifty he will know much less than he did the day he strutted fourth from the walls of his alma mater.

But, on the other hand, there are those who look the bald, unsentimental facts squarely in the face and realize that "Commencement" was only the beginning of their education and not the end, and that the most a college could reasonably hope to do was to give young men a vague idea as to how much there is to learn. It is possible for such as these to keep right on and by diligent application to become educated by the time they are fifty or sixty. Many do this without the initial assistance of the university, and do it better. Hence the eternal argument as to which are the most efficient, college graduates or non-college graduates.

The erroneous idea as to the finality of a college diploma is, of course, largely due to the diploma itself. It would be remedial, first, to print diplomas in plain English and, second, to state more specifically what they signify. The following is suggested as a tentative form:

This is to certify that JOHN NUMBSKULL has spent four desultory years attending classes in the University of the Academic Obfuscators; that during those years a few more or less unimportant and detached facts have been made to penetrate his reluctant cranium. Nevertheless, the professors have zealously tried to make the said Numbskull realize that there is much he does not know; that vast fields of knowledge lie all about him, and that if he will browse in some of these fields with ordinary concentration there is no reason why he should not ultimately become educated and thus be of value to himself and his fellow-men.

COMEDY—1 Act.

Scene:—Third floor of Chaudoin—room of Viola and Helen. Time Saturday night—11:30 P. M., every thing quiet, girls sleeping peacefully, dreaming blissfully of summer vacation—A sudden rap on the door,—enter Miss Bangs.

Miss Bangs:—"Girls are you here? Answer me." Quiet breathing.

Miss Bangs:—"Young ladies!"
Helen:—(Waking up enough to know that something was going on) "Oh, is somebody waking me up?"

Miss Bangs:—"Ah, there you are. But I only hear one voice. Where are you?"—Silence.

Miss Bangs:—"I only hear one voice."

Viola:—(by this time half awake, and angry at being aroused), "Oh, merciful heavens, Miss Bangs, here's the other voice." Exit Miss Bangs.

Donald Conn had a pleasant surprise when his people from St. Cloud made him a visit Saturday. They were on their way to Daytona Beach.

the negative this making the second victory for Stetson Literary Society against Sanford High School.

The decision was followed by enthusiastic applause. A feast of refreshments awaited the enthusiastic society in the back parlors of Chaudoin.

On the 17th of March, the Stetson Literary Society debates the Duval High School and have our hearty good wishes for another victory to swell the number of their already growing score.

IN SYMPATHY.

The Faculty and Students of Stetson University have learned with deep regret of the death of Mr. S. P. Smith, the father of Messrs. Culver and Todd Smith and Miss Kate Smith, all students here at Stetson. Mr. Smith's death occurred early Thursday morning after a somewhat prolonged illness, culminating in a paralytic stroke.

The Collegiate extends its warmest sympathy to the entire family in their great sorrow.

The first Sig to return for the convention is Rader Merritt, who journeyed all the way from New York to be with us again. Merritt is one of our old football stars. He will visit the University for a couple of weeks and may decide to remain longer.

Jimmie Dodge, Law '15, was out to both games with Keewatin in St. Augustine and cheered lustily for Stetson.

Dean—"Do any of you know of Webster's 7th of March speech by that name?"

Fischer—"Did Webster give his seventh of March speech on March 7th?"

FRAT AFFAIR
AT COLLEGE ARMSPATRONESSES ENTERTAIN
THE MEMBERS OF THE
DELTA DELTA
DELTA.With A Dinner At The College
Arms.

Monday evening the patronesses of Delta Delta Delta Fraternity entertained the members of that fraternity at dinner at the College Arms. The guests were seated at individual tables, with a patroness as hostess presiding at each table. Instead of having a regular menu ordered, the girls were permitted to order as they so desired which was quite a treat after enduring Chaudoin routine perpetually.

After dinner the Rollins Glee Club gave a splendid concert, which was enjoyed by the whole party.

The best of all came when the concert was over, the rugs rolled up and the girls allowed to dance.

Besides the fraternity girls Dean Martien, Mrs. Dr. Stephens and Miss Thompson were guests of the evening; also the two new patronesses Mrs. McCormick and Mrs. Maynard Bond.

Miss Lois Raunells, Pi Beta Phi from Butler College, Indianapolis, is the guest of Mary Louise Wilson for the week-end.

Mrs. Rose, mother of Muriel Rose, has been spending the week in DeLand.

Mrs. Dohm has returned from a two weeks' visit in Miami. We sure are glad to see you "Mama Nell."

The Girls Glee Club gave a concert in Daytona last Thursday before the Woman's Club. The concert consisted of six numbers by the club with a number of individual numbers. After the concert the Woman's Club gave a luncheon for the girls. The Chaplains for the occasion were Mrs. Hulley and Dean Martien.

Tom Jackson, Neil Jackson, Edwin Thomas and Brigham Young were in Sanford Sunday taking Phunnie Steed over with them where Phunnie had to take the train for Kissimmee where he is practising law.

Ed Gumm was in Daytona on Saturday. This is getting to be too regular.

Rudolph Peterson spent the week-end with his parents at Pierson.

Roy Amidon of Lakeland, visited friends in New Smyrna, his former home. He says that he feasted royally while away.

The rays of the moon are often strong enough to turn a flirtation into matrimony, but seldom strong enough to turn martial love back into romance.

The clever Delilah and the brilliant Cleopatra may have made fools of men; but it took a little empty-headed blonde, like Helen of Troy, to make a lot of men make fools of themselves.

Love is like a telephone operator; always giving out the wrong number—or cutting you off, the moment you get the right one.

The flower of a man's love is not an immortelle, but a morning glory; which fades the moment the sun of a woman's smile becomes too intense and glowing.
